Jay Buoncristiani is Wine Spectator's Rising Star of Napa Cabernet.

Jay started as enologist at The Hess Collection, then winemaker there at 26. Wine Spectator named him Rising Star of Napa Cabernet. Robert Parker called a Buoncristiani wine truly magnificent. He grafted Terra del Cuore to Malbec when others said the grape would not sell, then built this Proprietary Red as Cabernet, Syrah, and Malbec with a Napa twist. Felix Patland, Cal Poly enology, studied under Jay for five years and now leads the cellar. The 2022 still drinks as Jay's house blend.

Three named vineyards. Three hundred eighteen cases.

The 2022 is 61 percent Cabernet Sauvignon, 14 percent Malbec, 13 percent Syrah, 8 percent Merlot, and 4 percent Petit Verdot from Stagecoach, Patland Oaknoll, and Viking. Stagecoach is mountain fruit on the southern edge of Pritchard Hill. Oaknoll sits on Silverado Trail. Twenty months in French oak, 60 percent new. This is not a leftover cuvee. It is the house blend, bottled at 318 cases.

HENRY AND OLGA PATLAND

Terra del Cuore · Soda Canyon · a family Napa house

Henry immigrated from Ukraine in 1978. He and Olga raised three sons, Michael, Felix, and Kevin, in the Bay Area while Henry built a Silicon Valley company and Olga worked in publishing. They kept looking for a Napa property that felt like a home, not a showpiece. In 2007 they bought Terra del Cuore, Land of the Heart, on Soda Canyon Road. The first wines released in 2010. Proprietary Red was among the first three wines the house ever bottled. Michael still presents it. Felix, after Cal Poly and five years under Jay Buoncristiani, now leads the cellar. The photograph on this page is Henry and Olga on the estate, looking toward the valley. The 2022 Proprietary Red is still their family blend: Cabernet for the frame, Syrah and Malbec for plush dark fruit, a Napa red you do not have to save for a decade.

2022 IN THE GLASS

James Suckling (92, June 2025) wrote ripe and plush, with blackberry liqueur, cassis, cocoa, cloves, and vanilla. Full-bodied, smooth tannins, dense dark fruit, chocolate and spice on the finish. Drink or hold. That is a critic note, not a Wine-Searcher aggregate, though Wine-Searcher also shows 92 from that one review. Dark cherry, plum, violet, and blue fruit lead. Oak shows as toffee and cocoa on polished structure rather than raw wood. The blend is 61 percent Cabernet Sauvignon, 14 percent Malbec, 13 percent Syrah, 8 percent Merlot, and 4 percent Petit Verdot. Decant 30 to 45 minutes.

61% Cabernet Sauvignon · Stagecoach, Oaknoll, Viking · 20 months French oak, 60% new · 318 cases · 27.6 Brix at harvest

PAIRING AND SERVICE

Coffee-rubbed rib-eye · Spice-marinated grilled lamb chops · Mushroom, cocoa, and a savory reduction

Decant 30 to 45 minutes. Serve around 60 to 64 F in a generous Cabernet stem.
